Avoiding Internet Fraud

Fraudulent scams known as "phishing" involve a victim receiving an e-mail appearing to be from a legitimate business. The "from" line is often forged and the e-mail usually contains authentic looking graphics. The e-mail may also contain what appears to be a link to that organization. When the victim clicks on this link, they are then taken to what appears to be a legitimate looking website. Criminals can even make your browser's address bar contain the valid web address of the organization despite the fact that the website is a forgery. Victims are then encouraged to enter personal information including credit card numbers and expiration dates.

It is the Town of Brookline policy never to request confidential personal or financial information from our customers via an unsolicited e-mail. The Town of Brookline will also never send you an unsolicited e-mail containing a link to a Town of Brookline website where confidential personal or financial information is requested.
